

SEEKS BEAUTY, NOT QUANTITY

Bride of Today Includes in Trousseau Only Ample Amount of Lingerie for Immediate Use.

Since the sheer and clinging fabrics of modern garments have made the cut and line and ornamentation of undergarments matters of so much importance in the final effect of every costume, lingerie presents in some sense a mode of its own with every changing season, according to Vogue. The bride of today no longer includes in her trousseau lingerie enough to last her half a lifetime, but the ample quantity for immediate use which she selects makes up in beauty what it lacks in quantity, and the sums which she spends upon it would have staggered the wealthiest of her grandmothers.

Longer than ever before, it seems, is the lingerie which this season offers to the bride, exquisite in its hand-made lines and delicate colors and sheer and filmy fabrics, in the fine restraint of its dainty and beautiful embroidery. The tendency to over-elaboration which has at times characterized lingerie is but little seen this season. There are fewer ribbons, fewer bows and very little of the heavily padded and rather showy embroidery.

LONGER IN BACK THAN FRONT

Skirts in New Style Afforded Interesting Note in the Recent Paris Openings.

Recent openings by Parisian modistes revealed the quirks in new styles and reversions to old styles. Skirts that were much longer in back than in front struck a new fashion note. Panels in uneven lengths gave this same varying line at the hem.

Many of the gowns had all the trimming on the front, and very little in the back. Plain draperies in back contrasted oddly with flower trimmed undergarments in front. The new trimmings are wood embroidery—narrow stripes of wood, painted red, and strung in borders to trim a blue serge gown—and black tulle garlands used on a beige afternoon dress.

Few evening gowns were shown without picture hats.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF

Jacket sleeves are three-quarter length and flare at the edge.

With serge skirts are worn high-length jackets of quilted India silk.

A red and white checked gingham frock, with bindings and pipings of the red, is a distinctive style.

A touch of black cleverly used is one of the best things to give character to gray. It must, however, be cleverly used.

Hemstitching is a popular trimming for cotton and linen frocks, and a pretty conceit is the use of several contrasting shades of threads.

For the little girl of three to five or six years, colored dotted swiss seems the most approved fabric for dress-up frocks. Sometimes a trimming of plain color or white organdie finishes the frock.

Tulle is the most popular fabric selection for the sheer, lingerie blouse, and cotton fabrics have slumped so in price that very fine weaves can be had at reasonable figures. Often no trimming is used except hand-drawn work, hemstitching and perhaps groups of little French knots.

Dainty Cakes.

Roll into some pastry dough some finely chopped raisins and nuts, cut the dough in fancy shapes and bake, or sprinkle some dough with currants, cut out in diamond shape, some red sugar over the top and bake, or add some spices and sugar to the dough, cut in small rounds and bake. Any kind of preserves, jam, mincemeat or apple sauce may be converted in a few minutes into a small tart, made by laying preserves in the center of the pastry dough, folding over and securely pressing the edges.

Where "Pep" Is Useless.

The business day is short in India; it seldom begins before 11 o'clock in the morning. There is a "riffin" or lunch period, probably two hours long, followed by an early closing. The American salesman, accustomed to jumping from town to town on fast trains, seeing customers early and late, and sending daily orders to the "house," is hardly the one to tackle the deliberateness of India, where the "house" is best forgotten in the sales talk and where the potency of the first person singular is undeniable.

Powdered Fish Good Food.

A great many fish are caught merely for the recovery of the oil contained in their bodies and after this is pressed out the residue or what is called "cod-liver" is used for fertilizer. A Japanese investigator has succeeded in making this available as a food and it is said to be very nourishing after the treatment which he gives it. It takes the place of "stock" in making soups and gravies.

Puritan Custom Also Chinese.

The Puritans of old England and New England were unconsciously imitating the Chinese when they called their children Faith, Mercy, Hope, Prudence, Perseverance, Temperance, Charity, Love, Glory and Felicity. All these names have been used in China for 3,000 years.

Moody's Last Sermon.

Dwight L. Moody preached the last sermon of his life in Kansas City in Convention hall on the night of November 16, 1890. He had undertaken to conduct revival meetings in the hall from November 12 to 19, but on the night of November 16 he became so ill that the next afternoon he gave up the meetings and returned home. He died at his home in Northfield, Mass., December 22, 1890.

ARCHITECT FRANK L. (Concluded from Page 1.) Master of Illinois and Jurisdiction, has been to build up a policy of constructive progressive improvement with peace and harmony through unity and co-operation. Last year, through his leadership, the Prince Hall Masonic and Order of Eastern Star Home at Rock Island, Ill., was improved and remodeled and its business placed on a systematic, safe and up-to-date business basis. The membership of the craft increased, and a number of new lodges established.

This year through unity and co-operation of the worshipful masters,

"THE DOOR TO SUCCESS IS ALWAYS MARKED 'PUSH'"

(By Evelyn Casey)

When, in the face of such handicaps as the stress of hard times and the far and near cry of inability to meet obligations that daily confront, an organization can satisfy the demands of racial growth and advancement by supplying the necessary means to finance a $600,000 project that spells progress.

That the Masonic Fraternity is determined not to stagnate through satisfaction with merely being housed, was told to the community on last Sunday, June 12th, when, unimpaired by a blistering sun that drove the mercury up to 90 degrees, plumed knights and turbaned sheiks, together with the rank and file of the lower houses, turned out en masse for the site dedicatory ceremonies in recognition of a new Temple soon to be erected at southeast 56th and South State streets.

Upon a flag-draped speakers' stand, to the right of which was displayed a photograph of the projected edifice, were assembled many notables of the Order and the ceremonies were directed by Mr. Thomas H. Samuels, M.W.G.M., of the State of Illinois and Jurisdiction. Three brass bands rivaled each other in bursting martial music and the impressive ceremonies took on a patriotic atmosphere during the playing of the national anthem, while, to lend a holiday feature to the occasion the ladies representing various auxiliaries and chapters of the Order contributed to the comfort of the general assembly by dispensing soda, ice cream cones, etc.

We must give pause to contemplate the far-reaching benefits to accrue from this single objective. When we think of the number of artisans that will be needed from the turning of the first shovelful of earth to the last detail in interior finish and furnishing, 1921 should find here a place to reward a few of the unemployed fighters who have qualified along lines of structural and artistic efficiency.

The fraternity is to be congratulated on pushing toward greater success through the door of this splendid undertaking.

On Tuesday evening the members of the Board of Directors of the Phyllis Wheatley Home, 3256 Rhodes avenue, gave a delightful "Thank You" reception in honor of Phyllis Wheatley drive workers and Phyllis Wheatley taggers. There was speaking and several musical numbers added to the pleasure of the evening. Mrs. Bertha L. Hensley, chairman of the Tag Day committee, was in charge of the affair.

The trustees, faculty and graduating classes of Wilberforce University, held its fifty-eighth annual commencement Thursday, June 16. The writer was honored with an invitation to be present on that happy occasion.

wardens and brethren more than a dozen real estate accessions have been made by the fraternity throughout the jurisdiction. The membership has been more than doubled, the treasuries increased, the business of the lodges placed on a modern systematic basis and the finance secured. In every way the best interests of the individual brethren as well as the fraternity at large has been considered.

In the First District and Chicago

In the first district, comprising lodges largely of Chicago as well as other districts throughout the state and jurisdiction, Mr. Samuels has had the hearty co-operation and support of all the brethren and the various departments of the fraternity because he invariably sought to look after their welfare, not alone to think, plan

WILL SOON DEPART FOR HER HOME IN THE EAST

Mrs. Lottie M. Cooper, and her niece, Miss Laura Smith, will leave this evening or Monday evening for their home in East Orange, N. J. Mrs. Cooper delightfully spent the holiday season in this city, her former home, returning to the east shortly after the first of February, returning here again two or three weeks later, in order to be at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Mamie Odom. Mrs. Cooper was deeply devoted to her sister and sat by her bedside day and night to the end.

PLANNING IMPROVEMENTS

Mrs. Mary E. Foster, of the Sisters of Bethany, who has been re-elected to the office, has great plans for the present year.

Term Originated With Lloyd's.

The term "A 1," a slang phrase popularly used to denote a high quality of excellence or a condition perfectly satisfactory, originated with Lloyd's agency in London. When a ship was being insured the rating "A 1" was placed opposite the name of the vessel to indicate absolute seaworthiness. The leading American financial reporting systems adopted the symbols, with variations, to indicate a business man's credit rating and capital.

Regiment Proud of Long Service.

The Third infantry, the oldest regiment of our army, which dates from 1784, has developed its arms to show its early service in Mexico. One interesting device used by this regiment is a baton crossed with an oldtime bayonet back of the shield. The baton which figures prominently in the regiment's history was made from the flagstaff of the capitol of the City of Mexico and was taken when the city was captured. It is still one of the most highly prized possessions of the regiment.

Explanation of Name "Canada."

There are various theories as to how Canada came to be so called, one of which meets with wide approval is that the word Canada is derived from an Indian word, "Kannatha," meaning a village or collection of huts, and it is supposed that Jacques Cartier, hearing this word used by the Indians with reference to their settlements, mistook its meaning, and applied it to the whole country.

Indian Name of Quaint Old City.

The Indians called a strait "Kebec," and the name was given to the site of the present city of Quebec from the peculiar configuration of the St. Lawrence river at that point, for the river there grows narrow and from its deep waters rises the bold height on which the ancient city stands. The French-Canadian still pronounces the name Kebec.

and suggest, but put their plans and suggestions into execution, thereby accomplishing the almost impossible as considered by many in the past.

The lodges here are sure that he will be elected to succeed himself at the coming fifty-fifth annual Grand Communication of the Grand Lodge which will convene at Evanston in October. Their hope is based upon a desire to have him finish the great constructive work he has begun this year. Their hope is corroborated by more than a dozen lodges on almost as many districts for the same reason. The entertaining lodge, Mount Moriah, No. 28, of Evanston, has recently purchased property and will build a worthy temple in which the grand lodge will convene the second Tuesday in October.

Sometimes cats fare very well at beneficiaries under wills. It was a Parisian woman, a few years ago, who left 10,000 francs to her cat. On her death the money was to be spent on elementary schools. The feline has since died and the money distributed according to directions. In numerous instances fortunes have been left to found homes for cats and dogs. Sometimes these wills have been dictated by love of animals, while in others, they have been written merely for the purpose of "getting even" with grasping relatives.

Electricity and Chinese Demons.

Word has come from Shanghai that employees of the China Electric company recently called in a native priest to drive away the demon in an electric buzz saw which had cut off two of the operator's fingers. After the ceremony the workmen returned to their tasks contentedly. The manager of the plant felt that, despite the superstition displayed, these Chinese workmen were accepting electricity in their own way.—North American.

Care of Geraniums.

Geraniums should be kept moist, but should not be given too much water at a time. They need a sunny window. The plants should be kept in a fairly even temperature, and it should be borne in mind that they must have plenty of air, for they won't thrive in a "stuffy" room. Light and sun are necessary for all plants, and there is always more danger of getting too little than too much.

Famous English Poem.

Lodore is a cataract three miles from Greta hall, Keswick, Cumberland, England, rendered famous by the wonderful piece of word-painting by the English poet, Robert Southey, called "The Cataract of Lodore," published in 1820. This has been considered one of the best pieces of word-painting in the English language, at least of a similar length.

Few Killed by Hailstones.

One of the unsolved mysteries is why people are so rarely killed by hailstones. Only one case has been recorded in Europe. Such fatalities have happened more often in India than anywhere else. In the Moradabad district, May 1, 1888, about 250 persons were killed by a hailstorm.

VEIL ADDS BEAUTY

Face Covering as Important as Other Articles of Dress.

All Shades Appearing in the New Suits Are Duplicated in the Lacy Decoration.

To be becomingly veiled adds a woman greatly in being smartly dressed. The selection of a veil is as important as the choice of any other article of dress, especially so since the right veil enhances a woman's beauty to no inconsiderable extent, while one that is not becoming will accentuate the smallest defect. Women have come to realize this and spend ever so much time and deliberation in purchasing these bits of fluttering attire.

The veil is scarcely a matter of season, yet at this time of the year its vogue is particularly pronounced—and no spring toilette appears complete when it is absent. This season women are evincing an extraordinary amount of enthusiasm over veils, due to the fact that there is such great variety in color, shape and mesh.

All the shades appearing in the new suits and dresses are duplicated in veils, although brown, gray and black predominate. Just as two shades appear in a dress, so we find different colors in a single veil. The body or main portion may be of chiffon and have a trimming of Shetland mesh in a contrasting hue, or it may be that of a Russian mesh of one color combined with Shetland in a decidedly contrasting hue. Then again, a woven dot or design may be of opposite tint from the veil itself.

USE OF CHIFFON IN SKIRTS

Two Shades of Pink Material Provide Combination That Is Pretty and Pleasing.

Two shades of pink chiffon—one a deep rose and the other a pale coral—make a very pretty skirt. Where the bands of the darker shade are inserted, narrow bands of shiny, pale-blue velvet satin are hemstitched into the chiffon on each side with silver threads.

The quaint, tight-fitting bodice shows a most interesting application of the satin bands on the picturesque flieu. This is attained by having the two tones of chiffon outlined by the blue velvet satin, which gives a most delightful appearance. The bodice itself is fashioned from two-toned satin.

In rose and white it possesses a certain silvery effect. The bright side of the satin is used for the corsage, which is drawn tightly to one side.

The girle shows the pale side of the satin. This, however, is further enriched with a narrow band of turquoise satin as well as two magnificent flowers. One is originated in orange yellow, while the other is a rose-colored creation.

FASHIONS FOR THE KIDDIES

An attractive tailored hat of Milan straw, trimmed with a moire band and streamers.

TAILORED LINGERIE IS CHIC

Plain Tops to Chemise, Nightgowns, Slips and Camisoles Now the Favorite Style.

There is a penchant for plain, or tailored, tops to chemises, nightgowns, slips and camisoles. This type of garment agrees in simplicity with the slim, boyish figure which still prevails in "the vogue of youthfulness."

Occasionally these plain hems, or casings, are edged with strips of flat insertion, which does not detract from the "correctness" of the garment's character, yet makes it pliantly feminine. Through the plain casings are usually run delicate ribbons of soft pastel shades, and a novel note echoes the color of the ribbon in pipings around hems and along seams.

Peach, apricot, rose, French blue, lavender and golden yellow are the colors that enliven the pale fabrics from which lingerie is developed.

Lace Is Stylish.

Advices from Paris show that laces are being used, even to the extent of lace panels inserted in foulard dresses.
